On the afternoon of the 13th instant Mr. J. F. Kelsey narrowly escaped drowning. From the Hudson's Bay fort Mr. Kelsey went down the grade and on reaching the edge of the river started on foot straight across to the grade ascending on the opposite side. A few yards from the north bank the ice broke and let him in up to the armpits in deep water, where there is a strong current. He managed to get out with difficulty after sustaining a severe chill and reached the house of John Walter on the South Side where he was attended to, and fortunately sustained no serious injury. Mr. Kelsey desires to express his thanks to Mr. and Mrs. Walter for their kindness shown in that occasion.

The funeral of the late Mrs. Alex. Taylor, on Sunday afternoon last was very largely attended. The funeral service was held in the Presbyterian church, Rev. Mr. McQueen preaching the sermon. The bearers were: Messrs. E. Carey, J. Cameron, J. A. McDougall, W. Johnstone Walker, Thomas Hourston and George Roy. The procession from the church to the cemetery was the largest ever seen in Edmonton.

A mild spell of weather set in on Sunday last and on Monday and Tuesday a strong Chinook blew, taking away most of the snow that had fallen and ruining the not too good sleighing. Wednesday was colder but fine; and on Wednesday night there was a sharp frost with a slight snow fall, sufficient to make the sleighing good again. Thursday was calm and fine and on Friday a chinook blew again.

ONE day last week as W. Clark was climbing one of the electric light poles, when near the top, one of his climbers slipped and he fell to the ground a distance of nearly thirty feet. In his fall he turned heels over head, and lit on his feet, sustaining no more serious injury than a severe fright and a sprained ankle.

On Saturday of last week Ross Bros. purchased the lot and building on the corner of Fraser avenue and Main street. The lot is 104 feet on Main street, by 200 on Fraser avenue. The building is about 35x75, two stories and is occupied by the H. B. Co. The price has not been made public.

AN Indian, of the Battle river agency, had a tussle with a bear recently from which he came badly mangled, but alive. The bear, he says, was a grizzly and he is certain that it must be dead. The fact that it left the Indian alive indicates that it was very far gone.

THE benefit that a bridge across the Saskatchewan would be to summer traffic is shown very distinctly by the facility with which transfer business of all kinds can be carried on since the ice bridge formed. Although the ferries were very good, the ice has shortened the time to and from the station by nearly a third.

THE powerhouse for the electric light is completed most of the main parts have been strung and many of the lamps have been put in. Everything is now waiting for the arrival of the machinery which is expected on Monday's train. EDMONTON BULLETIN, NOV. 23, 1891.

FISH.

Not long ago the BULLETIN received from the department of marine and fisheries a circular dated October 26th, 1891, which read as follows: "I beg to enclose herewith for your information and that of the readers of your paper a synopsis of proposed regulations for the better protection of fish in the enclosed waters of Manitoba and the Northwest. As the subject is one of paramount importance to the population of the above named provinces I would feel obliged for your drawing attention to the matter in your editorial columns, so as to invite public criticism in relation thereto." The BULLETIN has great pleasure in acceding to the very civil request of the minister and takes the liberty of pointing out to begin with that criticism is asked on October 26th of "proposed" fishery regulations which from notices publicly posted in Edmonton, it appears, have been in force since some time in August last. Either the public notice or the circular is certainly grossly misleading. In this part of the Territories, more than in any other, the fisheries question is highly important to a large number of the people, whose chief dependence for a livelihood during each succeeding winter is upon the white fishery made in the previous fall. The sections of the regulations referring to the fisheries of chief importance to this district read as follows:

"A domestic license entitles farmers, settlers and bona fide local fishermen to fish with 300 yards of gill nets each, on payment of a fee of $2. Whitefish nets must have meshes of 8 inches extension measure, for other fish 4 inches. No net shall be set within a radius of half a mile from the mouth of any river or stream flowing into the lakes of Manitoba and Northwest Territories.

"A sturgeon net license shall entitle the holder thereof to fish with 300 yards of 12 inch gill nets on payment of a fee of $2.

"A seine license shall entitle the holder thereof to use a seine not exceeding 60 yards in length with meshes of 4 inches extension measure on payment of a fee of 25 cents.

"Fishing with nets or other apparatus is prohibited except under license. All fees payable strictly in advance.

"9. The close seasons for fish are as follows:

Whitefish, salmon trout and tullabee shall not be fished, or caught, killed or had in possession between 5th October and 30th November, both days inclusive.

Pickeral (dore) gold eyes, pike and maskinonge between 15th April and 13th May.

Speckled trout (salvelinus fontinalis) between 11th September and 1st May.

Sturgeon between 15th May and 13th July.

"10. No fishing of any kind allowed from 6 p.m. Saturday to 6 a.m. Monday.

"11. Domestic licenses will run from 1st December to 4th October following.

"12. Special licenses may be granted for pound nets. Fee 50 cents.

13. The lacing in the water of obnoxious substances, sawdust or mill rubbish, or the throwing overboard of fish offals is prohibited under a penalty of $100.

"14. The above regulations are equally binding upon Indians and halfbreeds as well as upon white men.

The minister may, however, reserve for the exclusive use of Indians certain waters where they can fish, under license, for their own use, but not for sale or barter.

"15. The use of explosives for catching or killing fish is prohibited as well as spearing fish.

"16. Parties found guilty of purchasing or having in possession fish caught by Indians within reserved waters, or during the close season, shall, in addition to the penalties provided by the fisheries act, be liable to a fine of $1 for each fish so purchased."

In other places the fishing question is a matter of sport or commerce. With the poorer class of halfbreeds at Lac la Biche, Lake St. Ann and other fishing lakes in this district it is simply a matter of existence. Compelling these people to pay a license fee for the enjoyment of what they have always exercised as and believed to be a right, will be felt to be a hardship; and will be a source of friction between the people affected and constituted authority that will, if the letter of the law is enforced, be productive of anything but good. The fee is too small to be of use for either revenue or protective purposes, but plenty large enough to be a constant source of irritation. Why it should be charged under such circumstances is a mystery.

The intention of the regulations in protecting the fish during the spawning season is no doubt good. But the facts of the case are that only during the spawning season can sufficient fish be caught to supply the needs of those who depend upon fish for their winter food. The ice forms about the close of the spawning season and in most of the lakes the fishery after the ice forms amounts to nothing. To enforce the section regarding a close season would simply condemn about 150 halfbreed families at Lake St. Ann and Lac la Biche to starvation or to depend upon charity, which is much the same thing. It is doubtless very proper to try to preserve the fish, but when it becomes necessary to starve a number of people in order to do so, the government should go slow. They should, at least, have made their enquiry before enforcing their regulations.

Hon. J. A. Chapleau claims the position of minister of interior on the ground that the province in which he resides is entitled to more important cabinet offices than have been hitherto accorded it. The Canadian West, over whose affairs the minister of interior more particularly presides, most emphatically rejects Mr. Chapleau on precisely the same grounds. The West sends enough members to parliament and is of sufficient importance as a part of confederation to entitle it to cabinet representation as well as Quebec, and especially to the department of interior whose head should be in touch with the part of the country whose affairs he administers, by representing one of its constituencies. Chapleau as minister of interior may be justice to Quebec, but it will be most gross injustice to the West, which the electors will not fail to resent when the opportunity occurs. Chapleau may scare Abbott but he can't scare the free and independent western voter.

The Winnipeg Tribune quotes the opinions of chief justice Ritchie and chief justice Patterson of the supreme court in their decision against the Manitoba act which did away with separate schools for Roman Catholics. From these it appears that the right which Roman Catholics as well as other religious bodies had in Manitoba before the entrance of that province into the union to voluntarily support their denominational schools was infringed upon by the school act which taxed them for the support of the public schools, thereby making them less able to contribute to the support of their denominational schools. Judge Patterson said: "The degree is immaterial. If it occurs to any extent the right to maintain the denominational school is seriously affected." The Tribune concludes that this judgement by confirming the Roman Catholic in the right to voluntarily support his own school, takes from the Manitoba legislature the power to transform the system of voluntary contribution into a system of enforced taxation.

CONCERT.

THE concert at Clover Bar, last night, in aid of the Presbyterian Church, was very successful. There was a large attendance from Edmonton and Fort Saskatchewan as well as Clover Bar. Rev. D. G. McQueen, chairman. The programme was as follows: Piano solo, "La California," Mrs. Jellett. Song, "Maud," W. Wilkie. Instrumental duet, piano and violin, selections, Miss Edith Fielders and P. L. McNamara. Song, "Our Jack's come home to-day," J. R. Michael. Reading, "How Ruby played," Rev. W. D. Wilkie. Piano solo, Miss Fielders. Song, with guitar accompaniment, "One bright smile," F. Steele. Song, "Isle of Beauty," Wm. Wilkie. Reading, Rev. W. D. Wilkie. Song, "The skipper and his boy," J. R. Michael. Song, "The Frenchman," W. Wilkie. Highland fling in costume, by R. Andrews. To music of bagpipes, by T. Hourston. Instrumental trio, violins and accordion, selections, Stewart Bros. Song, "The mermaid," J. R. Michael. Guitar solo, "Siege of Sebastopol," F. Steele. Song, "Good-night Ladies," Wm. Wilkie and J. R. Michael. "God Save the Queen," by the company. There were numerous encores. The piano accompaniments were played by Mrs. Jellett and J. R. Michael. Refreshments were served at the close of the concert, and a pleasant dance followed for a few hours. The proceeds of the concert were about $40.

No word has yet been received as to the date of meeting of the Northwest assembly. A few weeks ago it was generally understood that the assembly would meet in the last week of November or the first week of December, at latest. The date is now so far advanced that unless the members are summoned on improperly short notice they cannot possibly meet in the first week in December. If the meeting does not take place until the second week very little will be done before the holiday season, during which still less is likely to be done. Under the circumstances, now that the sitting has been postponed so long, it would be much better to postpone it altogether until after the first of January, 1892. In any case the last month of the year is a most inconvenient time for men to be away from home. With many it is particularly a busy season, and with all it is the time of year when the business of the preceding twelve months is closed up. It will be too bad to take men away from their homes and business at such a time. After new years is generally the slack time of the year, when men can best spare their time away from their business and give their best attention to the subjects upon which they may be called to legislate. By all means postpone the session until January, 1892.

GEO. L. BICKLER, recently of the Macleod district, who is establishing a cattle ranch on Ross Creek northwest side of Beaver lake was in town this week on his way to his ranch. He has had buildings erected at the lake this season but had not time to get hay up, so was compelled to leave his cattle in the Macleod district until spring. Mr. Bickler is an old resident of the Macleod district and well acquainted with the ranching business in its various forms.

D. W. DAVIS, M. P., has taken steps to prevent the landing from the United States at Vancouver and Victoria of beef cattle without passing the 90 days quarantine required by law, as has hitherto been the custom. The object is to boom the Alberta cattle trade. It is estimated that Victoria and the rest of Vancouver Island import 1,100 head of cattle a month.

Lord Stanley's military secretary emphatically denies the rumor published in the London Evening Truth, that the governor-general means to retire in a very short time. He states that Lord Stanley will certainly occupy his office for the full term.

The Montreal Witness mentions the return of 100 Scandinavians from Washington State on their way home to Sweden. Hardly any work and wretched pay is their account of the labor market in Washington.

Owen Murphy, late of Quebec, is now in New York, and says if had been given time enough he would have owned Canada through buying up its public men. He certainly made a good start.
